WEBSITE PROPOSAL · OCTOBER 2026 · SECOND BUILD

Your salon, online. Now it feels like walking in.

"It's like you're sitting at home, but you know what's happening in our salon."

Prepared for Viv-a-cious Hair & Beauty · 34 Beachway Place, Durban North
Every screen in this document is from the live, working build, not a mock-up.

FROM OUR CONVERSATION

What you asked for

Everything below comes straight from our meeting. Nothing extra, nothing missing, and no app-store costs: a website that works beautifully on any phone, tablet or laptop.

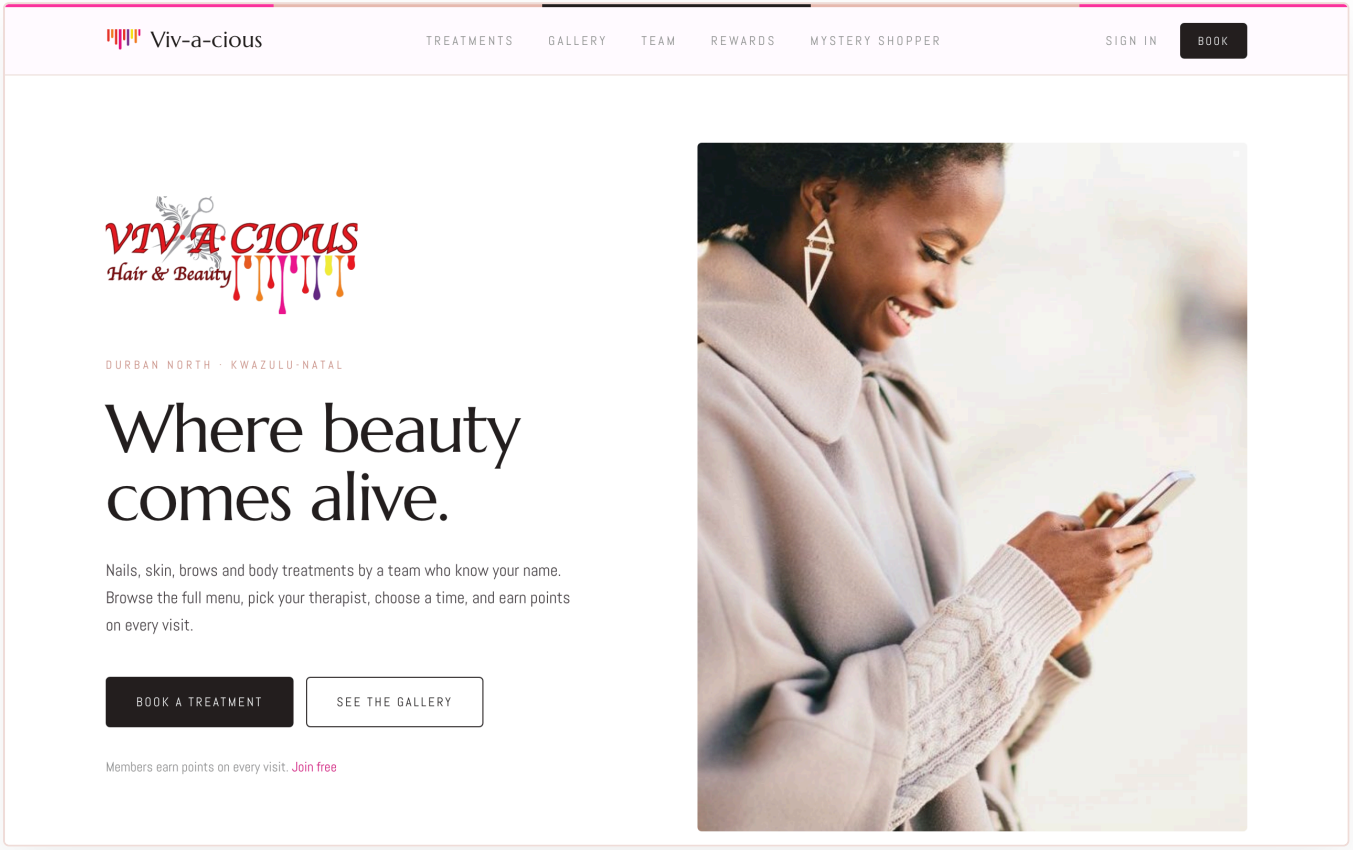

YOU SAID	WHAT WE BUILT
"Without coming here, you must know what we are offering."	✔ The full treatment menu with prices, grouped by category with search, open to anyone with no account.
"Clients will want to talk to their nail technician… who is available."	✔ Your team on the home page with specialities. Clients pick their person while booking, or tap "Book with…" on a therapist's card.
"Keep updating the reviews and client pictures so it stays fresh… controlled by us."	✔ Gallery and reviews you upload from the admin side, with a permission tick box. Only real photos are ever shown.
"See my points… redeem on the website… it gives you a voucher code."	✔ Members see their balance and progress, and turn points into a Rand-value voucher code to show at the till.
"I don't think we want them to pay online."	✔ No payment anywhere. Booking is free; payment stays in-salon.
"Suggestions based on points… you could buy this nail polish."	✔ A "Treat Yourself" strip showing retail products your points could cover.
"A button where you can volunteer to be a mystery shopper… staff must not know."	✔ One mystery shopper journey: email-verified entry, one entry per person, identities visible to the owner only.
"Hey, I haven't seen you in a while…"	✔ Automatic "we've missed you" emails, plus one-click campaigns to opted-in clients.
"It will be the same website… like a polo in different colours."	✔ One platform, restyled per brand, each salon with its own private database and logins.

Points rates, voucher values and mystery-shopper rewards shown in this document are working examples. You decide the real numbers and we key them in.

SINCE THE FIRST PREVIEW

What changed, and why

The first build proved the idea. This one is built to be lived in: calm, consistent, and quick to get around, on a phone or a laptop.

One way around

The same header and menu on every page, a simple four-tab bar on phones, and soft transitions between screens. You always know where you are.

A home page worth returning to

Your menu, your team, your clients' words and your address, all pulled live from the admin side. Update once, it changes everywhere.

Booking that never gets stuck

Treatments grouped by category with search. Every treatment has a therapist available. If a client signs in half-way, they land back on the exact step.

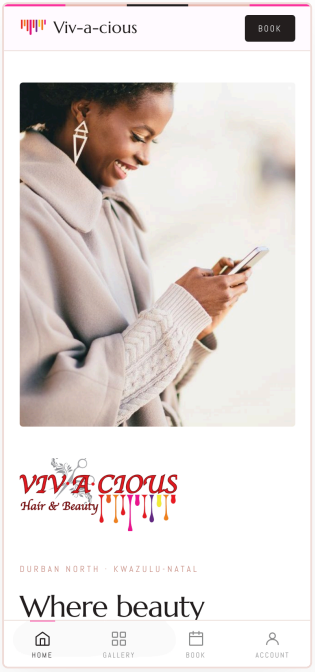

Real photos only

No placeholder artwork. The gallery shows your work, shared with permission, or says honestly that it is being curated.

THE CLIENT EXPERIENCE

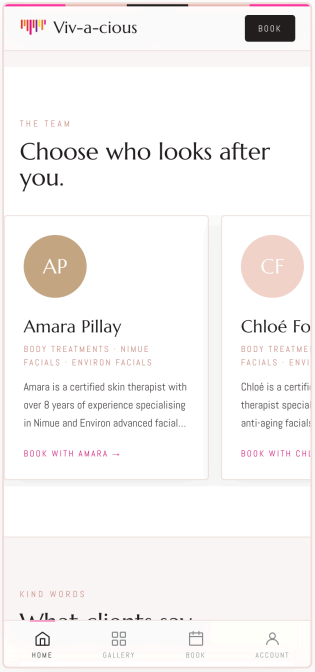

A first impression that feels like your salon

Styled on your brand: your logo, your colours, light and feminine, with hot pink used only where it matters.

HOW REDEMPTION WORKS AT THE TILL

1 · The client taps a voucher amount, for example 500 points for R500 off. 2 · The site issues a one-time code like `VIV-7KF9-QM3X`. 3 · They show it in the salon; you type it into the admin Vouchers page, which confirms it is valid and marks it used. No cash online, ever, and a code can never be used twice.

THE PROGRAMME YOU DESIGNED

Mystery shopper, abuse-proof

Built around the rules from our conversation, as one clear journey.

Enter

Email-verified, one entry each

01 Anyone can enter, once

A real email address, verified with a one-time code. Repeat attempts and code-guessing are blocked automatically.

02 Staff never know

Entrant identities are visible to the owner login only. Your team sees nothing, so the review stays honest.

03 Consent up front

Before entering, shoppers agree to leave an honest review and to their photo being shared internally afterwards.

04 Visit, review, reimburse

The chosen shopper books like a normal client, registers the visit, submits a scored review through the site, and you reimburse from the admin page.

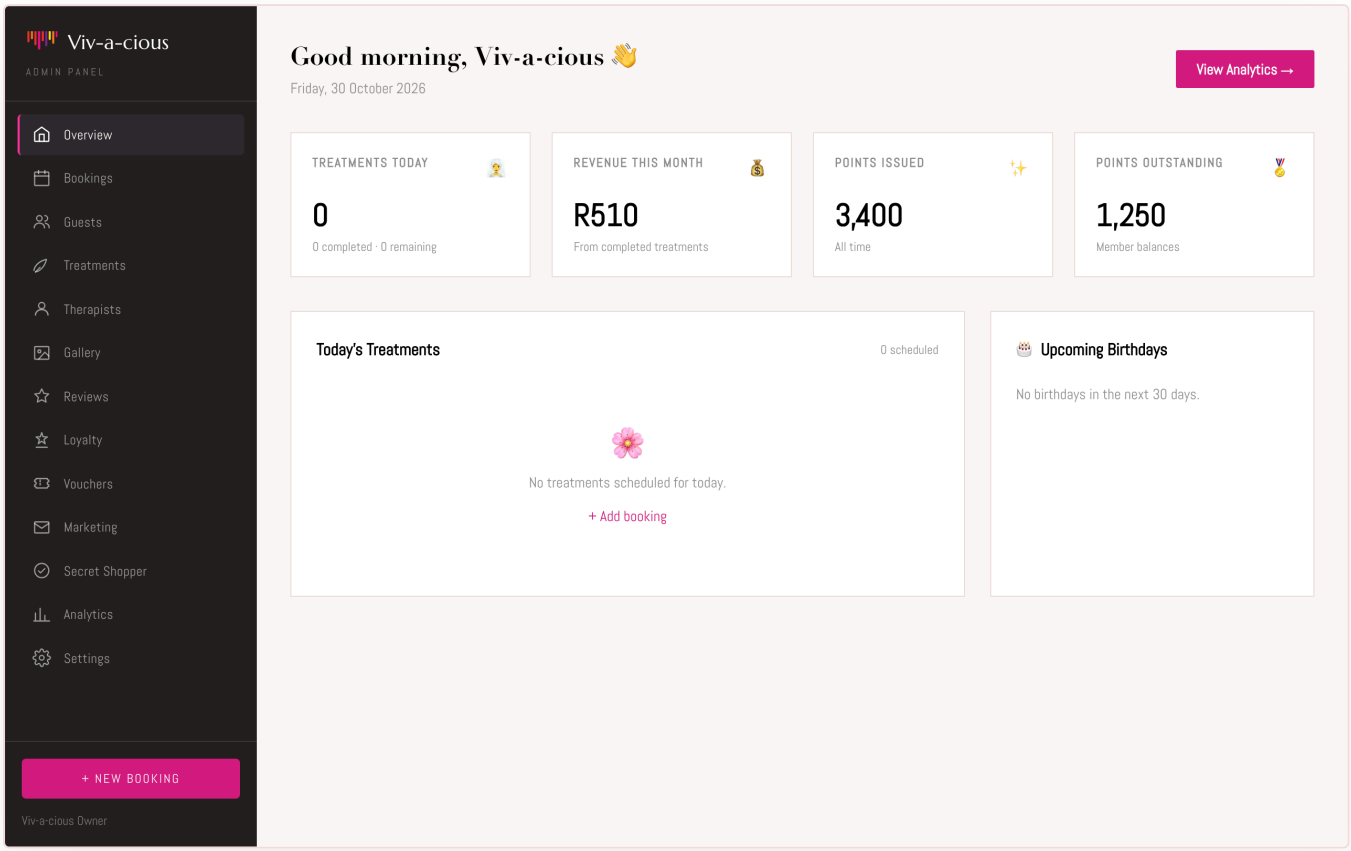

05 A cooling-off period

Once chosen, a shopper can't be picked again for the next few months. The reward value is set by you.

YOUR SIDE OF THE COUNTER

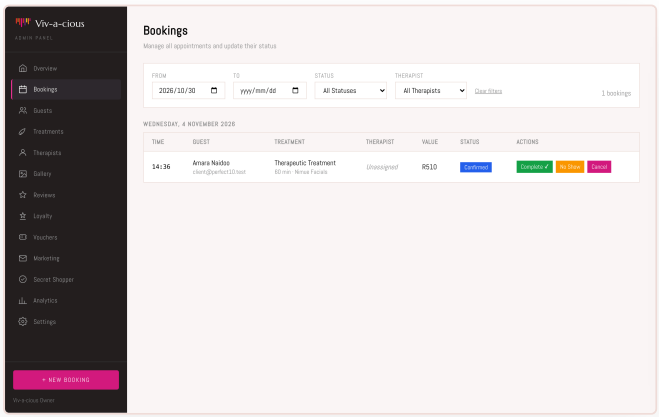

An admin panel that runs the day

Everything is controlled by you and your team from a private dashboard: bookings, guests, points, the gallery, reviews and emails.

Today's treatments, revenue, points issued, upcoming birthdays

Bookings

Confirm, complete or cancel. Completing credits points once.

Guests

Every member with visits and points. Adjust when needed.

GETTING TO LAUNCH

What happens next

From you

Photos of the salon, the team and client work (with permission) for the home page and gallery. · The numbers: points per Rand spent, voucher values, and the mystery-shopper reward. · Your treatment list, including the hair menu, with final prices. · A domain name, registered in your name; I'll guide the purchase.

From me

Loading your content, secure hosting, email sending (newsletters and automatic win-backs), and polish rounds based on your feedback. You get a clickable preview at every step and we bold up whatever you don't love.

Timeline

Your content loaded and a preview shared within two weeks of receiving it, then live once you have signed it off. If the website is well received, we can revisit a native app later with real usage behind the decision.

WHY WEBSITE FIRST (AS DISCUSSED)

No app-store subscriptions or review queues, works on iPhone, Android, tablets and laptops from day one, updates are instant, and it is the low-risk way to prove the idea before investing in a native app. Same look, same features, just a web address instead of a download.

Where beauty comes alive. Now online.
